

ONLINE RESOURCES

PROFESSIONAL JOURNAL

The International Journal of Gynecological Cancer (IJGC) publishes original research, editorials, case studies, and more related to the treatment of gynecologic malignancies with a focus on international perspectives. Video articles and weekly podcasts enhance the learning experience.

EDUCATION PORTAL

Enhance your learning with the IGCS Member Education Portal, an online library with recorded presentations from IGCS meetings, surgical videos and specialized content developed by the IGCS Education Committee. Visit the Literature Library (In the Know) to browse a monthly compilation of abstracts and significant literature related to gynecologic oncology.

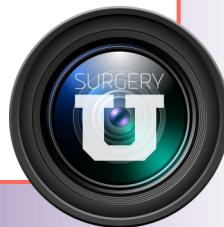

NETWORK & COLLABORATE

The IGCS Member Community – Social Link – connects you with over 3200 IGCS members around the world. Search the directory to locate colleagues and use the member forums to discuss ideas, ask questions, and share information about clinical cases, best practices, the latest research findings in gynecologic cancers, and more.

SURGERYU VIDEO LIBRARY

SurgeryU delivers high-quality, peer-reviewed surgical videos to members of the AAGL and partner societies such as the IGCS through a live and on-demand video library. The library contains over 1200 surgical videos to educate gynecologic surgeons of all levels on minimally invasive surgical techniques.

IGCS ANNUAL GLOBAL MEETING

Take advantage of discounted registration to attend the IGCS meeting held in different global regions. Meeting participation is an excellent way to learn about issues affecting the profession, meet experts in the field, present your research, gain inspiration and participate in important initiatives.

VOTING RIGHTS & LEADERSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Cast your vote to elect IGCS Council Members every two years and take advantage of opportunities for involvement and leadership within the Society. Apply for a seat on the Council or volunteer to serve on one of IGCS's Committees or Work Groups.

PROJECT ECHO®

There are many ways to share your knowledge through IGCS's mentorship & training programs whether you have the time and resources to travel to one of our Global Curriculum training sites, host a visiting scholar at your institution or can only commit an hour or two each month for one of our monthly Project ECHO® virtual tumor board video conferences.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

The IGCS Early Career Research & Publication Network connects experienced mentors with young doctors who completed training within the last five years to develop and promote research project ideas and discuss publications and scientific writing as a critical component of career development via online discussion boards, video conferencing, and in-person meetings.

ADVOCACY, OUTREACH & ENGAGEMENT

IGCS unites advocates, advocacy groups, and professional societies around the world to strengthen our voices as we call for improved access to quality health care and empower women with tools and resources to increase their health care autonomy and enable them to act on the specific needs within their region.

Full Membership is open to gynecologists, gynecologic oncologists, medical oncologists, radiation oncologists, pathologists, fellows in training, nurses, physician assistants, data managers, clinical research associates or other clinical specialists, physicians or scientists with a major interest in the prevention, treatment or study of gynecologic cancer.
